Mining Congressmen Hit Economy Drive Against Supports for Minerals

Army Rejects Compromise on Guard Training

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Army turned thumbs down today on a proposed compromise in its battle to force National Guardsmen to take more training. But it was careful to keep the door open for further negotiations.

Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La.), chairman of the House Armed Services subcommittee which has been refereeing the Army-Guard contest, was authorized by the subcommittee Thursday to present the compromise plan to the Army.

Under it, the Army would delay for 15 months the effective date of its plan to require six months active duty training of all new Guard recruits between 17 and 18 1/2 years of age. The Army wanted to put the plan into effect April 1.

The Guard opposed the Army plan on grounds that the additional training would make it more difficult to recruit new members for the Guard. It proposed that active duty for recruits between 17 and 18 1/2 be limited to 11 weeks.

But Guard officials said they "could buy" almost all of the Brooks compromise. It calls for 11 weeks of active duty for the affected Guard recruits until June, 1958. Then the Army's six-month plan would take effect.

The Army, after a quick look at press accounts of the compromise, objected on grounds that it would put needed Guard training "so far in the future" as to make the plan unworkable.

However, an Army spokesman pointed out that this was a horse-bait opinion subject to a possible review after Brooks outlined his proposal in person.

Judith Ann Garrison, 6-Month-Old Daughter of Former Residents, Dies

Judith Ann Garrison, six months old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Bill Garrison of Waukegan, formerly of Harrisburg, died yesterday at 10 a. m. She had been ill since November.

The body is being returned to Harrisburg and will be received Saturday by the Harrisburg funeral home.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Garrison of Dorris Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Alvey Wood of Covington, Ky., and great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Milo Turner. Pittsburg RFD 1, and Mae Garrison of Carrier Mills RFD 1. The baby leaves an older sister, Jackie Jane.

Burial will be in Coal Bank cemetery in Williamson county, the time of the funeral to be announced later.

Rev. Garrison is pastor of the Washington Street Baptist church in Waukegan.

Carmi Man Arraigned On Charges Violating Veterans Assistance Act

Charles W. Barlow, 25, of Carmi was arraigned today before U. S. Commissioner Harry L. McCabe on the federal charges of violating the Veterans Readjustment Assistance act.

He is charged with drawing Veterans Rehabilitation benefits in the amount of $301 while working at the time.

Bond was set at $500 and he was bound over to a federal grand jury.

Roberts, Cline Receive Paroles

Two men sentenced in Saline county circuit court to terms in state institutions are receiving paroles March 23, it was announced today by the Illinois Parole and Pardon Board at Springfield.

They are William Roberts, who will have served one year of a one to three year term at Pontiac, and Willard Cline, who will have served 16 years, five months and 26 days of a one year to life term.

Dr. John Furbay, Winner of Aviation Award, to Address Dinner Club Tuesday

Winner of the "Man of the Year for Aviation in 1955" award presented to him personally by President Eisenhower, Dr. John Furbay, Ph.D., one of America's outstanding authorities on aviation education and its effect on the modern business world, will be the guest speaker at the Southern Illinois Dinner club meeting Tuesday evening at the Kurto Country club.

An articulate speaker who only last summer made 66 addresses in 22 countries, Furbay is one of the widest traveled speakers in the world, doing almost a quarter of a million miles annually in making some 25 to 40 speeches a month.

He is in constant demand by teachers groups, and himself holds several top educational degrees. He is a graduate of Ohio State, took additional courses at New York University and was honored with a Doctor of Philosophy degree from Yale.

Furbay is a Fellow in the Royal Geographic Society, London, and a member of the Royal Anthropological Institute. He is education director for TWA in 26 countries and his assignments in this field take him to almost every place in the world at least once each year.

He was present at the Geneva Conference last summer and the World Seminar this year. He is the consultant to the Disney picture on Aviation. At the same time, he is preparing a book to be printed by Prentice Hall, entitled "The Global Concept Take the Stage."

Vachel Davis Receives Freedoms Foundation Honor Medal Award

Vachel Davis, the coal miner-artist from Eldorado, today received another honor to add to his list of distinctions.

Davis today was given a George Washington Honor Medal Award in the Freedoms Foundation ceremonies held at Valley Forge, Pa.

The medal came for his essay, "Sage of the Passing of Two Ancient Oaks," which was published several months ago in The Daily Register.

The essay told of ancient oaks in what is called the L and N grove in Eldorado, and in his writings Davis quoted the oaks as saying: "We (who) have outlived all of our family... mark the end of a long glorious epoch of (our country's) history."

In the essay division Margaret McCall of Portland, Ore., received $1,000 and a Washington Honor Medal for first place. There were 14 second place awards of $100 and an Honor Medal and 15 Honor Medal winners, among them Mr. Davis.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, received the Freedoms Foundation top award for the past year—$5,000 and the George Washington Honor Medal for his "devotion beyond duty to the cause of human liberty through four decades."

The citation also praised his "resolute leadership against Godless communism—domestic and international," and "his qualities of character and courage an example to the youth of the United States for all time to come."

The Community Programs top award went to the Akron Bar association of Akron, Ohio, for its

County Board Pays Garrison Claim, Sets Coroner Pay

The Saline County Board of Supervisors, at its February meeting yesterday, spent considerable time discussing claims submitted.

The board, after lengthy discussion, voted unanimously to pay $475 to County Clerk Don B. Garrison on Garrison's claim which stated he was owed that much from the past fiscal year for handling the county's municipal retirement system records.

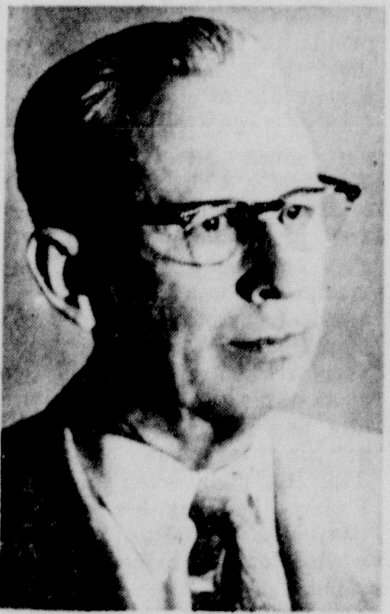

Board Chairman Howard Patterson named a committee composed of Alvin Gates, Kenneth Jackson and Lee Porter, to serve without pay, to investigate and see how much time is required to handle the municipal retirement job.

The board set the coroner's salary at $250 a month for compensation and expense following an explanation by Atty. Searial Thompson, representing Coroner James Thornton.

FTC to Crack Down On TV Commercials

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is about to crack down on alleged misleading advertising on television.

TV sleuths of the Federal Trade Commission have been scanning television commercials since last October, watching for violations of government rules against fraudulent or unfair advertising.

Complaints have poured in from the public, some of whom object to such things as making a woman look like an angel if she uses one beauty preparation, and a "hound dog" if she uses another.

The FTC has as yet issued no formal complaints—its first step toward getting out "cease and desist" orders to stop undesirable practices.

But T. Harold Scott, head of the radio-TV unit, told the United Press to watch for the first cases "soon."

He said his agency, which polices all forms of advertising for compliance with federal rules of fairness and honesty, has moved slowly on TV commercials because it wants to be "pretty sure" before making complaints.

Scott declined to specify the types of commercials the FTC will move against. But he said one of the chief complaints to his agency is against commercials that disparage another product. This is against FTC rules. So is false or misleading advertising.

Rep. Gray Says Action Will Idle Fluorspar Mines

Battle Is In Prospect by House, Senate Conferees

WASHINGTON (AP)—The congressional economy drive produced cries of "outrageous" today from mining state congressmen.

They berated the House Appropriations Committee for cutting off further funds for a $91 million program of government price supports for tungsten, fluorspar, asbestos and columbium-tantalum.

"They're kicking the west in the teeth," said Rep. Walter S. Baring (D-Nev.).

Rep. Kenneth J. Gray (D-Ill.) said unless the funds are restored 500 miners will be added to the 30,000 persons already out of work in his southern Illinois district, a heavy producer of fluorspar.

Await Seaton Plan

J. Blecheisen, manager of the Rosiclare (Ill.) Lead & Fluorspar Mining Co., estimates that 1,000 Hardin County miners will be out of work if federal subsidization of fluorspar mining ends.

Blecheisen said that independent fluorspar mines lost 75 per cent of the national commercial market with the signing of a reciprocal trade agreement with Mexico four or five years ago.

He added that the defense stockpiling program, which will be killed if the committee action stands, was a stopgap program to keep the fluorspar industry alive until Secretary of the Interior Fred Seaton could come up with a promised long range mineral program to help the entire mining industry.

Blecheisen said that the last he heard, Seaton's plan is supposed to be presented to Congress within the next two months.

The Appropriations Committee two weeks ago persuaded the House to refuse $30 million requested by the administration to carry the minerals program thru June 30. The Senate later voted 67-17 to restore the funds.

But a battle was in prospect in the Senate-House conference committee, and Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio), chief negotiator for the House, predicted the final compromise will not include the $30 million.

Thursday, the Appropriations Committee swung its economy ax again. It voted to refuse the administration's request for $40 million to carry the program from next July 1 to its termination date—Dec. 31, 1958.

Hit Tungsten Program

The committee again centered its fire on the tungsten purchase program, for which most of the funds were earmarked. It charged that it is wasteful for the government to continue buying tungsten at $55 a short ton when tungsten is available from foreign suppliers at $35 a ton and all defense needs have been met.

Rep. Wayne N. Aspinall (D-Colo.), conceded that "as far as economics is concerned, it may seem adverse to the government to pay $55 when it could be bought at $35."

"But once we let the mines close down," he said, "it would cost a lot more in the long run to open them again."

Moreover, he said, Congress has a moral obligation to be "honest and fair" with domestic producers. He said Congress promised last year that their strategic minerals would be purchased if they kept their mines open.

Congress launched the $91 million program last year and put up $20 million as a first installment. It was designed as a stopgap until the administration could devise a long-range program to keep domestic mines in business.

County Voters Go to Polls Monday to Help Elect Supreme Court Justice

Byron O. House, Francis P. Hanagan Opposing Candidates

Voters of Saline county will go to the polls Monday along with balloters in the 23 other counties of the Illinois First Supreme Court district to elect a state supreme court justice to serve the approximately three remaining years of a nine-year term.

Candidates are Byron O. House, 54-year-old circuit judge from Nashville, Ill., nominee of the Republican party, and 46-year-old Francis Patrick Hanagan, Benton attorney who is the choice of the Democrats.

Gov. William G. Stratton ordered the special election to fill the vacancy created by the death Aug. 29 of Justice Ralph Maxwell, also of Nashville, who had been elected to the nine-year term in June, 1951.

There will be balloting from 6 a. m. to 5 p. m. in all 24 of the Saline county precincts. Virgil

GOP Nominee, House, Guest At Dinner Here

Byron O. House, Republican nominee for Illinois supreme court justice in Monday's election, was guest at a dinner held last night at the Kurto country club.

Judge House, who has resided all but the first year of his life in Nashville, received his law degree at the University of Illinois in 1926. He practiced law at Nashville with his father, Attorney H. H. House, until his father's death in 1944. Soon afterwards he died in partnership with William J. Holt, the two continuing with the law firm name, House and House.

He was appointed a circuit judge July 9, 1956, to fill a vacancy created by the promotion of Circuit Judge William G. Juergens of Chester to the federal.

Hanagan, born in Hamilton county, moved to Franklin county when 16 and has resided there since.

Upon completing his education at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, he taught school for six years, then entered St. Louis University School of Law, receiving a law degree in 1940.

Except for 44 months in the service in World War II, 18 of which were spent in the South Pacific Islands, Hanagan has practiced law in Benton since being admitted.

The Weather

Illinois: Cold wave north and west central with temperatures falling to zero to 12 above north west half by Saturday morning. Partly cloudy north, mostly cloudy and colder south tonight with some rain or snow likely extreme south. Saturday partly cloudy and colder with rain or snow extreme south. Low tonight 16-24 southeast. High Saturday 30-36 south.

Farrell, Harrisburg township supervisor, recently announced that voting in Harrisburg would be at the following places:

Precinct 1, city hall; -Pct. 2, Humm Motor Co. at 217 East Poplar; Pct. 3, Wiley Motor Co. on South Granger; Pct. 4, Franks Bottling Co. at Jackson and Logan; Pct. 5, Logsdon building at Longley and Feazel; Pct. 6, Tadlock grocery in Ledford; Pct. 7, Mugge-Hall building on State Route 13; Pct. 8, Muddy school; Pct. 9, Gaskins City village hall; Pct. 10, Leo Richmond garage at 510 South Granger; Pct. 11, Soward Motorcycle shop at 332 West Robinson; Pct. 12, North Willford school in Dorris Heights.

The two candidates were nominated at party judicial conventions held in December following the call for the special election. Judge House got the nomination at Mt. Vernon and Atty. Hanagan at Belleville.

Counties in District

The First Judicial District is composed of the following 24 counties in the southernmost section of Illinois: Wabash, Edwards, Wayne, Hamilton, White, Jefferson, Gallatin, Franklin, Saline, Williamson, Johnson, Pope, Hardin, Massac, Pulaski, Alexander, Union, Jackson, Monroe, Randolph, Perry, St. Clair, Washington, and Clinton.

Judge House, who has resided all but the first year of his life in Nashville, received his law degree at the University of Illinois in 1926. He practiced law at Nashville with his father, Attorney H. H. House, until his father's death in 1944. Soon afterwards he died in partnership with William J. Holt, the two continuing with the law firm name, House and House.

MADE LIFE HAPPY Woman Leaves Former Local Couple $100,000

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Jones, a local couple who left Harrisburg six or seven years ago and settled at Joliet, Ill., were more than $100,000 richer today.

They received that much under the terms of the will of Mrs. Mary Smith Goin, filed for probate in Will county court, because they made life "happy and comfortable" for Mrs. Goin.

Mrs. Ben Partain, a sister of Mr. Jones who resides at 118 West National street in Gaskins City, pointed out that Mr. and Mrs. Jones both were reared in Harrisburg and before they left for Joliet they had operated a grocery store in Gaskins City and Mr. Jones had driven a bakery truck.

He has two other sisters, Mrs. Mike Goltosky of Harrisburg and Mrs. Vergie Hopkins of Pontiac, Mich. She is the daughter of Martin Hunsinger, who resides near Logan school.

Mr. Jones called relatives in Harrisburg Wednesday to tell them the good news.

"He was very happy," Mrs. Partain stated. "He'd always been a poor, hard-working boy but always had a big heart."

She said that Mr. Jones got a job at the Caterpillar plant in Joliet and shortly after making that city their home became acquainted with Mr. and Mrs. Goin. Mr. Jones took care of Mr. Goin through an illness until his death and when Mrs. Goin became ill, they took care of her, also, until her death Feb. 8.

A United Press dispatch yesterday said the will included $100,000 worth of real estate and some $3,000 in personal property. They received the entire estate except for $300 for maintenance of cemetery plots.

Mr. Jones plans to keep his job with Caterpillar.

Hair-Raising Escape

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT
Amid all the furor about the oil shortage, it has until now escaped notice that Europe is not suffering the expected industrial crisis.

When the Suez Canal was blocked, the worst was feared. The United States moved to step up oil shipments to Europe to help ease the blow. When those shipments failed to materialize in the promised volume, new alarm was felt.

Yet reports coming in from Europe indicate that the fears have been excessive—or at least premature. Economic experts abroad say that so far there is no sign of a really serious industrial setback.

This doesn't mean things are exactly rosy.

Britain and France have felt a definite pinch, and their foreign trade balances are not good. Certain Scandinavian and Mediterranean lands heavily dependent on oil as a power source have been hard hit.

But the trouble stops short of crisis.

Experts on the scene give credit for this to several factors:

The European economic organization instituted an emergency oil program for the conservation and use of the reduced supplies. Consequently Europe is getting 75 to 90 per cent of its normal petroleum needs. Had the available volume been cut as expected to 60 to 65 per cent, matters would have been much worse industrially.

The United States, even though not shipping as much as hoped for, has helped and should aid even more in the months ahead.

Mild weather has encouraged heavier movement of tankers than was counted upon in winter, and at the same time has slashed demand for heating fuels.

Thus far there have been no political developments which would further hamper oil shipments to Europe.

Sheer luck governs the latter two points. But the free world, understandably anxious about preserving its economic well-being, can be thankful that the United States is lending a hand and that, above all, the European countries have used their own machinery to grapple swiftly and efficiently with a potentially dangerous situation.

Reopening of Suez and repair of damaged Middle East pipelines, both looked for in the reasonably near future, will naturally break the back of the problem.

But this mildly optimistic report from Europe is not considered a fair basis for complacency.

Hitches may yet develop. And even the most cheerful European experts warn that any long continuance of so much as a 25 per cent oil deficiency would have far more drastic results.

"Of Course It's Ours—I Think"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
George Washington's Heritage
Applies To The Newspaper Profession; Newsmen Have Obligation To Tell The Truth;
So Do Presidents And Bureaucrats.

(Editor's Note—Drew Pearson's column on Washington's birthday takes the form of a letter to his grandson Drew Arnold.)

Washington, D. C.
February 20, 1957

Dear Drew,

This should reach you about Washington's birthday, and you won't be going to school. Lucky guy. I wish I were like you and didn't have to write a column today. But my schoolteachers—in this case quite a few editors—think I should work regardless of the founder of our country. Perhaps they will let me off with a letter to you instead of a column.

When I was your age I didn't pay much attention to George Washington's birthday except that it gave me a day off from school and my brother used to try to chop me down with a papier mache hatchet. It took me quite awhile to understand how great a man George Washington was. His press relations weren't very good at that time. He wasn't able to hire any of the high-powered advertising agencies of Madison Ave. He didn't even have a Jim Hagerty handling his press relations, and the newspapers really went after him before he retired.

But he not only steered this country through its toughest period, he left us some great principles. One you talk about in school is how he told the truth about chopping down the cherry tree.
And despite some people's idea that this was a myth, I am glad this is taught and remembered today. Because you can't run a country, or a business, or a family, or even yourself without telling the truth.

The business your granddaddy is in has to worry a lot about the truth. We are always trying to track down the truth, and sometimes the truth is very hard to report. Whole batteries of press relations men are hired in the government and by business firms to conceal the truth, or influence the truth, or gloss over the truth.
This makes it difficult to tell the truth. Nevertheless to ignore the truth can be just as bad as not telling the truth. When a newspaperman, for instance, omits the truth in order to curry favor with a bureaucrat or the White House, he is, in effect, lying to the public.

WHEN TRUTH IS IGNORED

For instance, when the Associated Press described George Allen as a "crony of President Truman" and as "an occasional golfing partner of President Eisenhower," ignoring the fact that Allen was a partner in the President's Gettysburg farm, also was his partner in a Howard Johnson restaurant, has been a bridge-playing partner during the long Georgia vacation and on many other occasions, then the AP is not fulfilling its trust to the public.

Or when newspapermen fail to report that George Allen, who was chairman of the Yemen Oil company, was with the President during his vacation when the President was making demands on Israel, again they are neglecting important truth.

The truth is not always on the surface. It can't be scooped up like cream off the surface of milk. Sometimes it has to be drilled, dynamited, blasted out of piles of bureaucratic red tape and batteries of press officials to get the real facts.

Sometimes also you make mistakes. You think you are telling the truth, but you find you were wrong. I made one the other day about Sen. John Pastore of Rhode Island when I listed him as voting for the natural gas bill. This was a foolish mistake, for he voted just the other way. I shouldn't have made the mistake, and I have now apologized to Sen. Pastore.

Then I made a mistake the other day in calling Henry Clay a Democrat. I thought I knew my history, but I didn't. Clay was a Whig. When you do make a mistake you get plenty of reminders from other people, and I promptly got one from John H. Powell in Philadelphia telling me that if Clay was a Democrat, then Andy Jackson was a Whig and Bryan was a Republican. "Of course," said Mr. Powell, "Adlai Stevenson is always quoting Lincoln.
Lincoln must have been a Democrat."

Of course you won't understand this, but when you get a little older and study the fascinating history of the United States you will.
In recent years it has seemed to me that government officials have tried more and more to hide the truth or even twist the truth —including the President himself.
He did not use to be this way.

GENERAL EISENHOWER WAS TRUTHFUL

I remember during the war I wrote a famous story reporting that General Patton had gone into an Army hospital in Sicily and struck a hospitalized soldier. General Eisenhower's headquarters immediately issued a categoric denial. The story was true, but it was my word against Eisenhower's, and I received indignant telegram from editors all over the country. The next day, however, General Eisenhower issued a second statement telling the truth and reporting that General
Patton had been disciplined.

I never asked Ike what happened. I just figured he had decided the best policy was to tell the truth.

During the recent election, something happened involving the truth which could affect your life and the lives of all boys and girls your age. Adlai Stevenson proposed outlawing H-bomb tests.
Just a few days before he proposed this, the President and his advisers had decided on the same course. They had decided that so much dangerous poison was building up in the atmosphere from H-bomb tests that it might affect the lives of little boys like you in the future.

But after Mr. Stevenson proposed this, the President made vigorous speeches telling the public that Stevenson was all wrong and that his plan would endanger the safety of the nation. This was not the truth, and the American public was deceived.

Now that the elections are over,
some of the President's advisers have urged that we adopt the Stevenson idea of banning H-bomb tests, and the President has partially adopted the Stevenson plan.
But the American public still does not know the real truth of what happened before the elections and how dangerous the H-bomb tests can be.

So remember when you get the day off from school, it's not just to give you more time to play, but because George Washington taught us a great lesson—telling the truth.

Love,
Grandpa.

Thinking It Over

"Fog" means different things to different people. It has a variety of meanings to the same person at different times. Fog is a misty obstruction to vision. It creates fear of the unseen, of lurking dangers which may be real or imagined.

In the mind it may be a confused state of thinking. It can be a train of thought going many directions at the same time. When our minds are fogged, they are limited from objective thought or from reaching logical conclusions.

Again "fog" may be a man-made material to smother a destructive fire. In this case fog replaces the oxygen which encourages fire. It is a controlled

"It Is Not A Custom With Me To Keep Money To Look At."

These words from a letter that George Washington wrote to his brother-in-law in 1780 stand as one more example of his wisdom.

He knew that his extra money could make more money if invested wisely—which certainly helps to explain why he lived and died a wealthy man.

The Day That Washington Retreated

At the heart of a conglomeration of George Washington fables which have little basis in fact stands one true incident which gives a real close-up of his character. While the cherry tree adventure is now recognized as a myth, this other, brief, word picture of the Father of His Country serves even better to show him in his true dimensions as a human being.

This revelation of his modesty and stalwart honesty came in mid-June, 1775.

The Continental Congress was in session, stalled on just what to do following the original outbreak of violence in New England.

The Battle of Bunker Hill had not yet begun and the "army" assembled outside Boston had only the status of a revolutionary mob.

John Adams had a plan in mind to break the stalemate. In his memoirs he says:

"Accordingly, when Congress had assembled, I arose in my place, and in as short a speech as the subject would admit, represented the state of the colonies. . . I concluded with a motion that Congress adopt the army at Cambridge and appoint a general."

It is within the next few moments of his speech that the revealing flash of Washington's character gleams clearly through the mists of history.

Adams goes on:

"Though this was not the proper time to nominate a general, yet, as I had reason to believe this was the point of greatest difficulty, I had no hesitation to declare that I had one gentleman in mind for that important command, and that was a gentleman from Virginia."

Without mentioning the name he went on to say that this man was present in the room and described his past military experience.

Then he mentioned the name—with unexpected results.

"Mr. Washington happened to sit near the door," Adams relates. "As soon as he heard me allude to him, from his natural modesty, he darted into the library room."

As Adams had talked, embarrassment had crept over Washington and finally it was too much. He fled.

Nor did he return to his seat in the assembly until the issue was settled.

While no other name was proposed, there was debate and the day's session ended without decision. Overnight, support solidified behind Washington and the vote was unanimous in his favor next day.

Washington knew nothing of what was transpiring until about dinner-time when the delegates left the hall. Then they shook his hand and called him "General."

Social and Personal Items

Mrs. Noble Mitchell Entertains Ruth Ford Circle, Euzelian Class

The Ruth Ford circle of the First Baptist church held its regular monthly meeting Feb. 14 at the home of Mrs. Noble Mitchell with a potluck dinner having tagliarini as the main dish.

The table was decorated in keeping with Valentine Day and place cards were small valentines. The blessing was given by Mrs. Charles Hurt.

After a short business session, three chapters of the book, "Twentieth Century Pioneers," was reviewed by Mrs. Charles Sutton.

The dessert of cherry pie and ice cream was served to the nine members and one visitor who were present.

Those who enjoyed the evening were Mesdames Charles Hurt, Joe Morman, Bud Hall, Bernard Feazel, John C. Hayes, Bob Pulliam, Bader Butler, Charles Sutton, James Nibling, a visitor, and the hostess, Mrs. Mitchell.

On Tuesday evening the Euzelian Sunday school class met at the home of Mrs. Mitchell for a regular business session and fellowship hour. The assistant hostesses were Mrs. John C. Hayes and Mrs. Paul McSparrin.

The meeting was conducted by the class president, Mrs. Elmer Talbas, and the devotion was given by Mrs. D. H. Hiller on the religion of Lincoln and Washington, which was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Games were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Val Oshel, James F. Moore, Ward Woolard and the class teacher, Miss Frances Cummins.

Refreshments of ice cream, strawberries, cookies and coffee were served to those previously mentioned and to the following: Mesdames Tom Miller, John Slightom, Bernard Feazel, Phillips Nyberg, O. E. Sowers Jr. and Russell Rose.

Union Grove Home Bureau Handicraft Club Meets

The Union Grove Home Bureau Handicraft club met at the home of Mrs. Hobart Somers, Galatia RD 2, Tuesday, Feb. 19. Ball point painting and metal etching were the projects for the day.

A special meeting is scheduled for next Tuesday, Feb. 26, at the country home of Mrs. Cleo Bond, at which time a new project, working with st raw braid, will be begun. All members are asked to bring needles, heavy duty thread, scissors and a large plastic bag. Also a sack lunch.

Those attending the meeting were Mrs. Wilbern Bond, Mrs. Cleo Bond, Mrs. Henry Clark, Mrs. Clyde Lasswell, Mrs. Noel Bond, Mrs. Luther Beers, Mrs. W. Binkley, Mrs. Byford Reynolds, Mrs. Kenneth Martin, Mrs. John Waladisi, Mrs. Carl Ray, a guest, and hostess, Mrs. Somers.

Mrs. A. D. Ward was called to Chillicothe, Ill., earlier this week by the illness of her mother, Mrs. Maggie Luther. The latter resides at Chillicothe with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jewell Hatcher. They all formerly lived in Harrisburg, and friends will be sorry to hear that Mrs. Luther is very ill and in the Methodist hospital at Peoria.

Mrs. Daisy M. Seright Returns from California Visit

Mrs. Daisy M. Seright returned Thursday from San Pedro, and other California areas where she had visited since before Christmas. She drove to San Pedro with her sister, Mrs. Amy Jenkins, who had visited Harrisburg and other points in the middle west last fall.

They and their brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Boozie visited another brother, James, Boozie, in Valley Home, Calif., who had been an invalid for several years, and returned for his funeral services following his death in mid-January.

Among the more pleasant aspects of Mrs. Seright's stay in California were visits with friends and acquaintances made on previous trips there. She and a party had the pleasure of seeing the Pasadena Tournament of Roses parade and the Rose Bowl football game New Year's Day.

Xi Chi Chapter Meets At Clyde Wilmoth Home

The members of Xi Chi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met at the home of Mrs. Clyde Wilmoth on Wednesday evening.

After a short business meeting, the program chairman, Mrs. Herman Boatright, presented Miss Alvina Shestak who gave a most interesting book review on the novel "King of Paris" by Guy Endore.

Delicious refreshments were served by the following hostesses: Mrs. Herman Boatright, Mrs. E. E. Bland and Mrs. Wilmoth.

Birthday Dinner Held At Iley McDowell Home

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Iley McDowell, 636 N. Main St., Sunday a dinner party was held, celebrating the birthday of Mrs. McDowell and her nieces and nephews as follows: Mrs. Lucy Probasco, Mrs. Edith Morrison and Gregory Morse.

Gregory was eight and the birthday cake made by Mrs. Morrison had eight candles on it.

Others present were Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Morse and three children, Sandy, and Karen Sue, Amos Morse, Morse D. Probasco, and Iley McDowell.

First Baptist W. M. U. Holds Royal Service Program

The Woman's Missionary Union of the First Baptist church held its Royal Service program Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. D. H. Hiller, Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mrs. Guy Lawrence were in charge of the unusually interesting program and all three had parts on it.

The program, entitled "Like a Watered Garden," was opened by a meditation by Mrs. Hiller, who used as her scripture readings Psalm 127:3-4, Psalm 1:1-3, Jeremiah 17:7-8 and brought out that a girl's life is likened out to a growing plant, a tree, or a garden, warning against careless, indifferent planting in dry, barren soil.

The whole theme of the program was in honor of the Young Woman's Auxiliary which is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year. Since the Y. W. A. girls were in school at the time of the program, members of the W. M. U. acted in their place in presenting the program. Those who presented it were Mrs. Herman Davis, accompanied at the piano by Miss Frances Cummins, who sang a number of solos appropriate for the different ideals and dedication of the Y. W. A. as the women presented their readings. They were Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Lawrence, Mrs. Lizzie Sisk, Mrs. L. I. Webb, Mrs. Pearl Allen, Mrs. Hubert Hawkins, Mrs. Corby Wickham, Mrs. Wanda Lane, Mrs. Virginia Howell, Mrs. Sam Cole and Mrs. Joe Morman, the latter two being counsellors of the Y. W. A.

The meeting was closed with comments of interest on Youth Focus Week by Mrs. D. H. Hiller, youth leader.

Calendar Of Meetings

The regular meeting of the Saline County Garden club will be a Washington's birthday tea at the home of Mrs. Harry Barter, 14 East Walnut, Tuesday, Feb. 26. Guest speaker will be Mrs. John W. Towle.

The folk song, "Waltzing Matilda," is Australia's most famous song.

Larger Than Name Schools SIU Asks Legislature for Funds To Help School Hold On to Gains

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Southern Illinois University, which has crept almost unnoticed into the ranks of the nation's leading colleges, is asking the state legislature for enough funds to hold on to gains it has made in the past few years.

Almost overnight, the former college has grown larger than "name" schools like Dartmouth, Duke, Baylor, Colgate, and John Hopkins University, and has outdistanced big state schools like the Universities of Mississippi, Virginia, Wyoming, Maine, and Oregon.

Southern has reported to the state legislature that it needs $25,264,139 for operating expenses during the next two years to preserve its standing in academic circles.

SIU officials note proudly that enrollment growth from 2800 students in 1951 to 6255 this year did not come about by relaxing scholastic standards. On the contrary, requirements have been stiffened, and Southern rates highly with accrediting bodies like the North Central Association and the Association of American Colleges.

On the other hand, the University says, funds available from the state have not been in keeping with Southern's position and the size of its student body. In many respects, students are being short-changed in their education.

University administrators cite library needs as an example. An old library building used by the University until last year was so small and so cramped that there was no place to put new books.

The library collection was spread out over five buildings, including a couple of quonset huts, and it sometimes took days to dig out a book a student needed.

Now that the library has been moved into an efficient, modern building, there is plenty of space but the University is years behind on its program of book acquisition.

In a survey of 12 comparable universities, Southern is last in the size of book collection and current periodicals. The survey showed that the school in this group with the largest library had 650,000 books and the average school had 359,000. With a total of 173,000 volumes, Southern has only one-half as many as the average. Therefore the University has added a $340,000 item for library acquisitions for the next two years as part of the $10,586,713 operating budget increase it is seeking.

Such financial needs are urgently felt in every department at Southern because of the doubling of enrollment in the past four years, coupled with the normal growing pains of a new university.

SIU spokesmen say that Southern's interest in economic and social problems of Southern Illinois make its appropriations needs even more acute. For example, the University started the Vocational-Technical Institute and expanded offerings of the School of Business to train young men and women for well-paying jobs that were going begging in this area. These and other programs of critical importance have proved so appealing that the students have outgrown the teaching facilities.

If its operating budget request is approved, the University hopes to broaden the scope of these practical programs and add a few others. Curricula have been mapped out for the training of petroleum geologists for the oil-rich Illinois basin and for field workers in community development. Four years of study in applied science would also be offered, and the University would add research grants for projects of areawide significance like wildlife management in strip mine areas, rehabilitation training, and utilization of forest resources through wood products.

Some of these plans, proposed by educational consultants and area residents as vital to the development of Southern Illinois' potential, will have to be scrapped, however, unless the University's budget gets a favorable reception by the legislature.

SIU officials say their first considerations will have to be for salary adjustments and new faculty appointments. Immediate reduction in class sizes and teaching loads is necessary so that Southern can retain qualified instructors and keep its educational standards high.

Some $17,574,939 for personal services during the next two years is the chief item of the $25,264,139 request for operating expenses.

Big Ridge Baptist Faithful Followers Class Holds Regular Meeting

The Faithful Followers Sunday school class of the Big Ridge Baptist church met recently at the home of Mrs. Margaret Wise.

Mrs. Geneieve Alvey led the group in singing the class song which was followed by prayer. Nine members answered roll call with a scripture giving God's promise.

After the business session, a short devotion from Psalms was given by Mrs. Geneieve Alvey.

Mrs. Shirley Rister was in charge of recreation. The following were served refreshments by the hostess: Mesdames Theda Miller, Phyllis Hicks, Wilma Rister, Shirley Rister, Eva Mugge, Shirley Wintzler, Genevieve Alvey, Margaret Wise, Barbara Miller and Marilyn Mattingly.

Boy Scouts Pay Tribute to Group's Founder

The 4,526,302 members of the Boy Scouts of America will join with Scouts of 62 other nations in paying tribute to Lord Robert S. S. Baden-Powell, of Gilwell, founder of the Boy Scout Movement, whose one hundredth birthday anniversary is today. His memory will be honored at meetings and many Scout functions this year.

The Jubilee Jamboree, marking the Baden-Powell centenary and the 50th anniversary of world Scouting, will bring together 35,000 Scouts and leaders of many nations to Sutton Park, Warwickshire, England next August 1 to 12.

The Boy Scouts of America will be represented by 1,600 Scouts and leaders who will first camp together at the Fourth National Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania next July 12 to 18. They will sail July 22 on the M. V. "Fairsea" from Quebec, Canada.

The Boy Scout movement got its start in 1907 when Baden-Powell and twenty-one boys of every class from the East End of London, from Eton and Harrow, pitched their tents on Brownsea Island in Dorsetshire.

Scouting now has more than six and a half million members in the world. Since Scouting began more than 40 million boys and men have been influenced by its teachings.

Robert Stephenson Smyth Baden-Powell was born in London on Feb. 22, 1857 and died at Nairobi, Kenya, Africa on Jan. 8, 1941, a month before his 84th birthday. He is buried on Mt. Kenya near Nairobi.

Through its 1957 World Friendship Good Turn every member of the Boy Scouts of America will be given the opportunity to make a contribution to help a boy in some other part of the world, as a tribute to Lord Baden-Powell.

Representing the Egyptian Council at the Jubilee Jamboree will be Joseph Scott Jr. of Rosiclar, John Lee Harlow of Herrin, and Wendell Winters of Marion.

Following the Jubilee Jamboree Egyptian Council representatives will join other Explorers from Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin in a week's tour of France, Switzerland and Italy.

South Carolina is the leading textile-producing state in the Union.

GLAMOR GRANDMA—Marlene Dietrich, film's most glamorous grandma, again made headlines with her costume when she opened at Las Vegas' Sands Hotel. It was a million-stitch, 200,000-diamond gown designed by Jean Louis of Hollywood. Over it she wore a 10-foot-long Louis swan's-down wrap, decorated with five million feathers from the breasts of 300 swans.

"from where I sit ...

clothes dry better ... ELECTRICALLY"

"The rain is pouring down and I've been entertaining the 'girls' in my bridge club all afternoon ... but from where I sit, it's a perfect day to dry a wash!

"In just a few minutes I'll say, 'Deal me in, Ethel,' while I take the laundry out of the Automatic Electric Dryer ... the softest, fluffiest, sweetest-smelling laundry you ever saw!

"No more hanging clothes in a damp basement or out in the cold ... clothes pins, props and lines are strictly passe! I dry my clothes quickly, easily and Electrically ... Oh, dear, what did you bid Ethel?"

THE ALL-ELECTRIC LAUNDRY

The Automatic Electric Washer is a single unit that washes, rinses and damp dries without attention from you. The Electric Water Heater dependability provides HOT, hot water for your washer. Be sure your Electric Water Heater is big enough for all your present needs with some to spare for increased future uses. The Automatic Electric Ironer lets you sit down to iron. Even your most delicate garments can be ironed with perfect ease!

BUFFALO GRASS

By Frank Gruber

Copyright 1956 by Frank Gruber Distributed by NEA Service, Inc.

The guns were still, the carnage had ended. Lee had surrendered at Appomattox Courthouse. Sherman had come to terms with Johnston and, in Texas, Kirby Smith had yielded the last armed force of the Confederacy. The war was over.

Yet now, eight weeks after Appomattox, the gray-uniformed soldier lay on the ground in a cane-brake in South Texas, the lifeblood seeping from a bullet wound in his chest. His pain-tortured eyes looked into the face of Sgt. Chad Morgan, of the 16th Illinois Cavalry.

A few yards away, Sgt. Joe Jagger was searching the over-turned army ambulance in which the Confederate had tried to outrun the two Union cavalrymen. Two dead horses were tangled in the harness. The broken wagon shaft had pierced the belly of one of the horses, a carbine bullet had taken care of the other.

Morgan dropped to one knee beside the wounded man. A quick glance told him the story. "Why'n't you stop?" Morgan asked testily. "The war's been over for two months."

The Confederate's mouth worked terribly. "Jo ... Jo Shelby ... needs ..."

Morgan made an impatient gesture. "Shelby's a fool. He thinks he can go down into Mexico and enough Confederates will join him so he can come back and start the war all over. There's a civil war going on in Mexico. Juarez won't have Shelby and neither will Maximilian." He scowled. "What's he got with him? A bunch of Missouri bushwhackers who're afraid to go home, deserters, riffraff. With that he thinks he can conquer Mexico."

"Chad!" suddenly called Joe Jagger. "Look ..."

Morgan sent a quick glance over his shoulder, saw that Jagger was dragging a small, iron-bound chest out of the wreckage of the ambulance. He got quickly to his feet and went over to join his fellow sergeant.

"Maybe this is why he wouldn't surrender," Jagger said.

Morgan gestured to Jagger to step aside. He pointed his carbine at the lock on the chest and pulled the trigger.

The bullet smashed the lock and in a moment, Jagger forced up the lid of the small chest. A cry was torn from his throat.

"Gold!"

The small chest was filled, almost to the very top, with bright golden eagles and double eagles. Jagger's hands plunged into the golden mass, came up with a double handful of coins. "Must be twenty-thirty thousand here," he said in awe.

"General Shelby's war chest!" Jagger shook his head. "Jo Shelby never saw this much money."

Jagger dumped the gold coins back into the chest. Both men walked back to the wounded man. Jagger dropped to his knees.

"We found the gold, Reb." The wounded man groaned.

"Whose is it?" Morgan asked gruffly, then made a wild guess. "Jeff Davis's?"

A spasm of pain contorted the Confederate's face. "So that's lost, too!"

"They been lookin' for this money," Jagger exulted. "All the way between here and Richmond, Va." He suddenly got to his feet and caught Chad Morgan's eye.

The two cavalrymen walked back to the gold chest. "We're heroes, Chad," Jagger said. "They'll cite us in dispatches for this."

Chad Morgan looked narrowly at the man who had been his closest friend for almost four years, the man who had twice saved his life and whose life he had himself saved; the man whose canteen he had shared, whose blankets he had often used.

"What you're thinking," he said deliberately, "is finders' keepers." "Who owns this?" Jagger asked softly. "The Confederate States of America? There's no such thing. Jeff Davis? It wasn't his in the first place and anyway he's in prison now." His eyes went to the wounded Confederate. "It sure doesn't belong to him because where he's going he won't need any money." He cleared his throat. "It's our money, Chad. Yours and mine."

They counted the gold as they stowed it away in their saddlebags. They found that there was an even $25,000.

"I was looking forward to getting me a job in a store," Morgan said, "but now, I dunno. Maybe I'll read law for a couple of years." "And in five years you'll be earning just about enough to get by," said Joe Jagger.

"I don't figure to ever be a rich man."

"Well, I do," declared Jagger. "I want money, a lot of money, Chad." He made a sudden sweeping gesture. "What's made the biggest impression on you about Texas?"

"The buffalo. There must be a million of them ..."

"And 20 million longhorns," snapped Jagger. "They been roaming wild all these years. Every Texan's cattle poor."

Morgan and Joe Jagger, met in St. Louis and proceeded to the offices of the Kansas & Colorado Railroad.

The suite of offices wasn't impressive, for the railroad had only two crews of workers. One was laying track in Kansas and the other was out selling stocks and shares. The construction crew was doing a better job of it.

In the outer office of the railroad company was a girl who caused Chad Morgan to gasp. She was the most beautiful creature he had even seen in his life. In her early twenties, she was dressed in a prim calico dress that should have made her unattractive, but failed. She had golden brown hair, a marvelous complexion and her eyes were blue, with a light in them that would cause a lot of good men a great deal of trouble.

When Jagger and Morgan entered the office, she leaped to her feet and ran to Joe Jagger with outstretched arms.

"Joe!" she cried. "At last!"

For an instant Chad Morgan actually hated his friend, Jagger, kissed the gorgeous one, then thrust her out at arm's length. "You're old enough to get married!"

"I was old enough when you went away," retorted the girl. She shot a quick look at Morgan. "You're Chad! Joe's written me about you." She held out her hand.

Morgan took the hand, found it warm and firm. "How are you, Miss ...?"

"Miss Ace-in-the-hole," chuckled Jagger. "My sister, Helen ..."

Clabaugh Gets Adverse Opinion From Castle on Deals With U. of I.

BULLETIN
CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — The Champaign county state's attorney said today he will file misdemeanor charges against State Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh if investigation shows that purchases made by the University of Illinois from Clabaugh's firm were made from state funds.

SPRINGFIELD — State Rep. Charles W. Clabaugh's contracts with state agencies stirred up new controversy today in the wake of an adverse opinion by Atty. Gen. Latham Castle.

Find Articles Of Clothing of Grimes Sister

CHICAGO — One of the slain Grimes sisters' articles of clothing has been found, according to an unconfirmed report today.

The clothing reportedly has been in the custody of Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman for more than a week. However, it was not learned where the clothing was found.

Lohman was not available for comment on the report.

The nude bodies of Patricia Grimes, 13, and Barbara, 15, were found Jan. 22 in a roadside ditch. They disappeared Dec. 28 after attending a movie.

Sheboygan, Wis., authorities said a man identified as Allan Frier told them the victim's clothes could be found in one of three Skid Row hotels in Chicago. Police found several articles of clothing in one of the hotels, but none belonged to the Grimes sisters.

Suburban Cicero police reported finding some girls' garments in Sportman's Park, but the clothing later was traced to two runaway girls from Kankakee, Ill.

Meanwhile, the mother of the dead girls said she believes her daughters died of fright.

Mrs. Loretta Grimes said Thursday that medical scientists and police have assured her that fright can be a cause of death.

The grieving mother said she theorized that teen-age boys picked up her daughters and drove them to a parking place along the city's southwest outskirts.

"I think they were frightened to death in that dark lonely place," Mrs. Grimes said.

Queen Elizabeth Gives Husband Title of Prince

LONDON — Queen Elizabeth formally granted her husband the title of "Prince of the Kingdom" today in an apparent final answer to gossip about his status.

The token promotion of the Duke of Edinburgh was proclaimed two weeks to the day after an American newspaper reported gossip of a rift between the Queen and her husband after nine years of marriage.

A second proclamation declared that "The Queen has been pleased to declare her will and pleasure that his royal highness the Duke of Edinburgh shall henceforth be known as his royal highness the Prince Philip, Duke of Edinburgh."

This touching gesture was the Queen's first official act of state following her return from a visit to Portugal during which she was reunited with the duke after a four-month separation.

Actress, Seriously Burned at Stake, Also Suffers Auto Injuries

LONDON — Actress Jean Seberg of Marshalltown, Iowa, who suffered first-degree burns Thursday while being "burned at the stake" in a Joan of Arc film production, suffered more bad luck today.

Her car skidded into a lamp post while en route from London to Shepperton studios to resume filming. The 17-year-old actress suffered slight leg injuries this time.

Her stomach was burned and her hair and eyelashes singed by a gas flareup during the crucial scene of Otto Preminger's film version of the George Bernard Shaw play "St. Joan."

Georgia Legislature Approves Bill to Impeach 6 Justices

ATLANTA — The Georgia House wound up legislative approval today of a measure asking impeachment of six U. S. Supreme Court members including Chief Justice Earl Warren and moved on to debate a bill that would ban racially mixed sports in the state.

The House approved 112-13 a Senate amendment and sent to Gov. Marvin Griffin an administration resolution asking Georgia's congressional delegation to start impeachment proceedings against two-thirds of the nation's highest day that Castle earlier this week issued a ruling that Clabaugh's business dealings with the University of Illinois "clearly falls within" a law prohibiting state legislators from dealing in state contracts.

The opinion had been requested by Champaign County State's Atty. Robert W. McDonald. It did not mention Clabaugh by name, but it was known McDonald requested the opinion with reference to contracts held by Clabaugh's firm, the Champaign Weather Strip Co., with the university.

Clabaugh, who has been in the state legislature since 1939, has been under fire for direct and sub-contracts held by a number of state agencies held by his firm, but Castle's opinion referred only to those with the university.

Castle's opinion quoted two sections of law which prohibit legislators from dealing "directly or indirectly" in state contracts under penalty of forfeiting the contracts and possible fines of up to $1,000.

The opinion also answered a question which Clabaugh himself raised—whether a contract with the U. of I. is actually a state contract.

A university contract, Castle ruled, "not only appears to be within the strict letter of these proscriptions in the law but clearly fall within the purpose and intent of the ban and the evil sought to be prevented thereby."

Clabaugh said at Urbana he felt Castle's opinion was "in error" and "many people" would disagree with the ruling.

He insisted that there was "nothing wrong" in his firm's holding the contracts and said he was in "the same position" he would be in if he had gotten a ticket for overtime parking.

"I'll just have to wait and see what do about it," he explained.

Earlier at Chicago, Clabaugh said he did not agree with Castle's ruling, "but that does not mean anything... It's strictly a case for legal determination."

Undecided on Action
At Urbana McDonald told the United Press he had received Castle's opinion, but has not decided what action he will take on it.

"There are a few things I still have to check," he said, before he could decide whether to present the case to a grand jury.

McDonald said he had discussed the case in a "brief conversation" with Clabaugh, who lives in Champaign.

The Sangamon County State's Atty. J. Waldo Ackerman, also has been investigating state contracts held by Clabaugh's firm, although Ackerman said earlier no decision had been reached concerning a possible formal grand jury investigation.

TV Repairman Begins Sentence For Bank Robberies

INDIANAPOLIS — A St. Louis, Mo., television repairman who robbed two banks four times in less than a year today began a 20-year prison term.

Cleudus Washington Stone pleaded guilty Thursday in Federal Court and was sentenced immediately.

Stone, who has spent 22 of his 47 years behind bars, admitted the March 14, and Nov. 15, 1956, hold-ups of the North Side Federal Savings and Loan Assn. in Evansville.

He also confessed robbing the Midland Federal Savings and Loan Assn. a Lakewood, Colo., on Aug. 28 and Oct. 19, 1956.

Judge William Steckler told the defendant, "You've asked for it, Mr. Stone."

Stone said he turned to bank robbery after failing to hold a job because of his prison record.

The total loot from the robberies amounted to about $15,000, officials said.

Oral Arguments March 19 on Train Removal

SPRINGFIELD (U.P.)—Oral argument before the Illinois Commerce Commission will be presented here March 19 on the New York Central Railroad's efforts to abandon its Chicago - Harrisburg passenger trains.

An ICC spokesman said another brief hearing would be scheduled after the oral arguments to "clean up some details" before the case is taken under advisement.

The New York Central Railroad is seeking to abandon its two trains, Nos. 462 and 463 between Harrisburg and the Illinois line near Danville in the current case. Part of the line runs through Indiana before reaching Chicago.

A long series of public hearings have been held in the case, which is a rehearing of an ICC decision several years ago in which the commission denied the abandonment petition.

A rehearing was begun last June after the trains had been operated on a "test basis" for about two years. The railroad has claimed heavy losses on the operation of the service.

The latest of the hearings were held earlier this week, with a number of railroad brotherhoods and a New York Central users committee presenting evidence in opposition to the abandonment.

The committee represents a number of southern Illinois communities, which include Paris, Carmi, Lawrenceville, Harrisburg, and Robinson, all of which have vigorously opposed the abandonment.

Oil Promoter Snowden is Found Guilty

DANVILLE, Ill. — Oil promoter Homer W. Snowden was expected to post a new $25,000 bond today, pending decision on a motion for a new trial in a multi-million-dollar oil fraud case here.

Snowden, 51, formerly of Dallas, Tex., and now of Los Angeles, was found guilty by a federal jury here late Thursday on all counts of a 13 count indictment.

He was ordered taken into custody and held, pending posting of a new bond.

He was indicted for alleged fraud, conspiracy and sale of unregistered securities, along with Allen A. Borton, Hillsdale, Mich., his associate.

Borton pleaded guilty earlier and is now awaiting a decision on a petition for probation.

A jury of seven men and five women deliberated several hours late Thursday before returning the guilty verdict against Snowden at 10:15 p. m.

Snowden has been free under $20,000 bond since the indictment. He was put in the federal section of the Vermillion County jail overnight, pending posting of the new bond, which was set at $25,000.

In closing arguments before the jury, Asst. U. S. Atty. Charles Young pictured Snowden as the mastermind behind a scheme to defraud investors in a series of oil and gas well ventures.

The government charged that investors lost nearly two million dollars in Snowden.

fraudulent leases promoted by Snowden.

Globemaster With 159 Aboard Crashes in Korea

SEOUL, Korea — A U. S. Air Force C124 Globemaster with 159 persons aboard crash-landed tonight on a tiny island in the Han River near Seoul, injuring scores of persons.

There were no immediate reports of fatalities but many passengers were reported seriously injured.

By midnight, more than four hours after the crash, 56 injured had been evacuated by Army helicopters to a hospital 20 miles away. A hospital spokesman said most of them suffered burns and fractures.

Far East Air Force Headquarters said the big transport was carrying 10 crewmen and 149 passengers—most of them servicemen flying to Japan for rest and recreation leaves.

Sea Lion Escapes Into Crowd at Garry Moore Show

NEW YORK — A sea lion escaped into the audience of the Garry Moore TV show this morning, chasing some 100 members of the studio audience out of their seats and up the aisles.

The animal, appearing as a guest during the third segment of the CBS-TV show, was chomping contentedly on a fish when it apparently took fright at a mike noise.

It scooted to the edge of the stage and plumped into the right side of the orchestra while a capacity holiday crowd of some 650 persons howled.

Moore advised the audience to scoot. They did.

Waddling under the seats, the sea lion squirmed its way up to the fifth row of the orchestra. Stagehands armed with broomsticks, Moore and animal expert Ivan Sanderson worked frantically for six minutes before they succeeded in boxing it in.

Israel Refusal Regretted by White House

WASHINGTON — The White House said today the United States regrets Israel's refusal to withdraw its troops from Egyptian soil but welcomes "further discussion" of the Middle East crisis.

The White House statement, issued after a conference between President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, said this country will say nothing in the United Nations on the subject of sanctions against Israel until later, possibly Monday.

The White House said Dulles will confer with Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban, expected to return Saturday from Jerusalem, before the United States makes any presentation to the U. N.

The U. N. General Assembly meets on the Middle East crisis this afternoon.

Door Not Closed

As to when the United States may make an official stand on sanctions, strongly opposed in Congress, all White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty would say was that no presentation of the U. S. position will be made until, possibly, Monday.

"The President and his secretary regret that the government of Israel has not yet found it possible to withdraw its forces from the Gaza Strip and the Gulf of Aqaba," Hagerty said.

"The door is certainly not closed to further discussion of the situation."

"The President and his secretary welcome such further discussion because they believe that a full understanding of the United States position and the United Nations resolutions of Feb. 2 should make it possible for Israel to proceed with the withdrawal."

Carrier Mills Candidates File On Peoples Ticket

In the April village elections Carrier Mills voters will go to the polls to elect a president of the village board, village clerk, trustees and police magistrate.

Several of the present officials whose terms will expire this year have indicated they will be candidates for re-election and have filed their candidacy on the Peoples ticket.

Although it is rumored another slate may enter the campaign there had been no other filings when Clerk Harry Tanner was contacted Thursday noon. Tanner stated candidates had several days yet to file as the last day was Monday, Feb. 25.

Candidates on the Peoples ticket: Freeman D. O'Keefe, for president of the village board, incumbent; Harry Tanner, for village clerk, incumbent; Leighman Walker, Curtis Capel and Chester Starkey, trustees of the village board; C. H. Austin, police magistrate, incumbent.

There are three trustees to be elected and Mr. Capel is a candidate for re-election. Mr. Walker and Mr. Starkey are running for the first time.

Fred Bailey, at present a trustee, did not choose to run for re-election and James Reid, elected a trustee four years ago, moved to Marion last fall.

School Problems Commission to Seek $75 Million Boost in Aid

CHICAGO — The Illinois School Problems Commission will seek an increase of 75 million dollars in state aid to public schools for the two-year period beginning July 1.

The commission Thursday voted to advise the State Budgetary Commission that a 50 million dollar hike over the 201 million dollars appropriated to the state distributive fund for this biennium was an "absolute necessity."

It will tell the state administration that an additional 25 million dollars is "urgently needed."

The appropriation to the distributive fund must be boosted at least 50 million dollars if the state is to continue to pay 22 per cent of the cost of operating local schools, the commission said.

State Ranked 36th
An increase of 75 million dollars would enable the state to pay a larger share of local school costs and lessen the burden on hard-pressed districts, it said.

Lester Grimm, of the research staff of the Illinois Education Assn., said Illinois ranks 36th among states in the percentage of school costs borne by the state.

The commission also agreed to recommend that the present legal requirement of 200 minutes of physical education per week be reduced to 150 minutes.

It suggested that recess time in elementary schools be counted as physical education if the activities help develop pupils' physiques.

Favors Tax Hike
—Agreed to support legislation to allow the Chicago Board of Education to tax property up to $125 per $100 of assessed valuation for its educational fund. The change could bring Chicago schools an additional $4,300,000 yearly beginning in 1958.

—Recommended legislative revision to permit 151 unit districts in downstate Illinois to tax up to $125 per $100 for educational purposes without referendum. Most now levy a $1 tax.

—Turned down a proposal by the Civic Federation that election laws be revised to permit presentation of bond issues only at general elections.

Elizabethtown Man, Druggist 31 Years, Dies

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ill. — Harry Ledbetter, 62, who owned and operated the city's only drug store here for 31 years, died at 3:40 p. m. Thursday in Rosiclare Hospital.

He was a native of Elizabethtown, and was graduated from the Louisville (Ky.) College of Pharmacy in 1926. In September of the same year, he bought the Paris Drug Store from the late W. J. Paris, and had operated it continuously since then.

Mr. Ledbetter was also a veteran of World War I.

Survivors include his wife, Mary; a daughter, Mrs. Clinton Wilkins of Farmington, Mich.; three grandchildren; a brother, Charles, of Elizabethtown; two sisters, Mrs. W. B. Pell of Elizabethtown and Mrs. Harry Barricklow of Albuquerque, N. M.; and a half-brother, Mora Ledbetter of Sherman Oaks, Calif.

The body is at Barnett funeral home here.

Funeral services will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Elizabethtown First Baptist church. Rev. Carl Watkins, church pastor, will officiate and burial will be in the Odd Fellows cemetery.

Otis Luther Rites at Eldorado Saturday

Services for Otis Luther, former Eldorado resident who died Tuesday at the Wayne County Receiving hospital at Detroit, Mich., will be Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Bean and Tanner funeral chapel. Rev. C. H. Burchett will officiate and burial will be in Sunset Hill cemetery.

Governor Stratton's reasons for calling the election for February 25th are clear. He is trying to elect his hand-picked candidate, in an effort to control the Supreme Court. He thinks that YOU won't even bother to vote, and that his political appointees and patronage seekers can get enough votes for his candidate to win.

TAXPAYERS!

GOVERNOR STRATTON IS SPENDING $250,000.00 (A QUARTER OF A MILLION DOLLARS) OF YOUR MONEY BY CALLING A SPECIAL ELECTION FOR MONDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1957 TO ELECT A SUPREME COURT JUDGE FROM THIS DISTRICT.

This is a waste of your money by a man who is supposed to have your welfare at heart. This election could have been held at the same time as the REGULAR Judicial Elections, about 90 days later, at NO ADDITIONAL COST to the taxpayers.

AT A CAREFULLY CONTROLLED REPUBLICAN NOMINATING CONVENTION, THE STRATTON MACHINE PREVENTED THE CONSIDERATION OF ANY CANDIDATE EXCEPT HIS FAVORITE. THE NAMES OF SEVERAL HIGHLY RESPECTED REPUBLICAN JUDGES AND ATTORNEYS WERE BY-PASSED, AND STRATTON'S CHOICE WAS HANDED THE NOMINATION.

Ridgway Wins Gallatin Grade School Tourney

Ridgway defeated New Shawneetown 41-38 Thursday night to take the championship of the Gallatin county grade school basketball tournament.

In the battle for third place New Haven beat Equality 44-28.

Ridgway was forced to rally in the final half to take the title, trailing 28-19 after the first two quarters of play, then held New Shawneetown to 10 points in the last half, including a four-point fourth quarter.

PCL Clubs to Oppose Dodger Move to Coast

NEW YORK (AP) — The Brooklyn Dodgers' time-honored slogan of "wait 'til next year" took on a decided Los Angeles flavor today but opposition already was mounting in California toward the Bums moving out there by 1958.

Although Dodger President Walter F. O'Malley denied the team plans to move from Brooklyn when he acquired the Los Angeles franchise in the Pacific Coast League from the Chicago Cubs Thursday, several PCL officials saw the handwriting on the wall—and they didn't like it.

Bob Cobb, president of the Hollywood Stars, said, "if a major league club does come to Los Angeles, it would destroy the Pacific Coast League from Vancouver to San Diego. It would put us out of business."

Sacramento President Fred David added, "if O'Malley is buying the Los Angeles franchise to play an open classification team in Los Angeles, that's one thing. But if he plans to move the Brooklyn team to Los Angeles, we'll oppose it."

To obtain the Cubs' Los Angeles minor league farm, the Dodgers turned over their Fort Worth franchise in the Texas League to Chicago and since they are not permitted to operate two clubs in the PCL, they also ended their working agreement with Portland and the Cubs will pick it up.

Additionally, the Dodgers also paid the Cubs $1,250,000, a price some baseball men called "a steal" because "it puts the Brooklyn club in an excellent negotiating position to transfer its franchise to Los Angeles next year."

One National League official considered the sum a paltry one in light of the fact that "the Dodgers can make more than that back in one year by becoming the only major league club to televise its games up and down the West Coast when they do move out there."

Galatia Wins Independent Cage Tourney

Galatia won the championship of the independent tournament held at Herrin by taking a 79-63 decision from Murphysboro Thursday night in the title game.

Consolation honors were taken by New Era of Carbondale with an 80-53 verdict over West Frankfort.

Galatia has won two tourney titles and is unbeaten this season.

John Cherry paced the winners with 26 points. Others on the Galatia team were Buddy Peyton, Jerry Taylor, "Bebber" Dalton, Jim Beasley, Glen Clarida, John Tate and Virden Garrett.

Wilt Chamberlain Scores 32, But Kansas Loses, 56-54

By United Press
It's Grady Wallace, the nation's No. 1 scorer against North Carolina, the nation's No. 1 team, tonight.

This dramatic basketball duel was set up Thursday night when Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain of Kansas failed to out Wall of South Carolina from the scoring lead — and also failed to keep Kansas from a 56-54 upset at the hands of the Oklahoma Aggies.

The seven-foot Chamberlain racked up 32 points in the clash at Stillwater, Okla., but the Aggies beat the nation's No. 2 team on a 20-foot shot by Mel Wright with only two seconds remaining. It was only the second loss for Kansas in 18 games.

Chamberlain improved his scoring average slightly up to 29.16 points per game, moving from fifth place to fourth but falling far short of the 56 points he needed to overtake Wallace.

So Wallace goes into tonight's fray with a 30.41 average, followed by Joe Gibbon of Mississippi at 29.38, Chet Forte of Columbia at 29.26, Chamberlain, and then Elgin Baylor of Seattle at 29.13. Gibbon is the only other contender playing tonight, going against Tulane.

Basilio is Favored Over Saxton In Welterweight Title Bout

CLEVELAND (AP) — Carmen Basilio, the hatch-faced welterweight champion, hopes to chop down ex-champ Johnny Saxton tonight in their title "rubber match" at the Cleveland Arena so that he can try next for the middleweight crown.

The betting is 3-1 that raw-boned Carmen from Chittenden, N. Y., will achieve his second victory over streamlined Saxton of New York in their third encounter before a possible sell-out crowd of 12,700.

Carmen's recently tender right hand has not discouraged his supporters.

In fact, the wagering is 7-5 that 26-year-old Saxton does not last the scheduled 15 rounds of the nationally televised and broadcast battle, which starts at 10 p. m. EST.

A five week's postponement because the champion bruised his right hand in training helped the gate, expected now to range between $130,000 and $150,000.

That would be the largest in Cleveland since the Max Schmeling-Young Stribling heavyweight title fight, July 3, 1931. Since then the tops was $87,000 drawn by Sugar Ray Robinson and Artie Levine in 1946.

Co-Manager Joe Netro said today, "I hope Carmen finishes his series decisively tonight with Saxton, so he can shoot for the middleweight title. At 29, it has become a real chore for Carmen to pare down to the 147-pound limit. He would be stronger as a middleweight, around 154 pounds. Of course, whether he could go right after the 160-pound crown would depend on the wishes of the promoters."

Carmen Wins on TKO
In their two previous bouts, Saxton recaptured the title on a unanimous decision.

Incompatible, June Allyson, Dick Powell Separate

HOLLYWOOD — Actress June Allyson said today that she and her actor-producer husband Dick Powell have separated after 11 years of marriage because of "incompatibility."

"We have not been getting along for the past few years even though we have tried," the actress said. "I have decided that Richard and I have a better chance for happiness if we are apart from each other."

The actress said there were no immediate plans for a divorce. She said that no other man or woman was involved in the separation.

The couple was married in Beverly Hills, Calif., Aug. 19, 1945. The Powells have two children, Pamela, 8, and Richard Jr., 6.

Competency Exams For Miners March 4 At West Frankfort

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — B. H. Schull, director of the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals, said today the state mining board will conduct examinations for various mine certificates March 4 at the West Frankfort country club.

He said an examination for certificates of competency as state inspectors of coal and metal mines will begin at 8:30 a. m. March 4. The board also will examine candidates applying for certificates of competency as mine managers (first and second class), mine examiners, steam and electric hoisting engineers for coal and metal mines and foremen for metal mines.

Schull said all candidates for examination should apply to the State Mining Board, Room 112, State Office Building, Springfield, for application blanks.

Applications postmarked not later than Friday, March 1, will be accepted.

Schull pointed out that candidates for certificates of competency must comply with the general mining laws.

ONLY a few dollars more than the price of a smaller car—for a big and brawny Buick! But that's just part of the news.

Do you know this spanking Buick is new from the rubber up?

That it has an all-new body—and a windshield with over 200 square inches of new visibility?

Do you know its roof line is inches lower—yet there's full headroom, legroom, footroom for all six passengers?

All this took some great engineering. But where the engineers went all out was in making this the dream car of the year to drive.

New engine—new Dynaflo* response—new steering—new ride—more than 150 other chassis changes that make this, in fact, the most completely new Buick in years—offered at a price level that makes it literally true: if you can afford any new car you can afford a Buick.

And what a buy you'll get for your money! See your Buick dealer, take the wheel—and find out.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.
